Do you value nature, culture and creativity in education ?

Do you want to take more responsibility for your family's education ?

If the answer to these questions is "yes" then abunDANCE in Family Directed Learning will be of interest to you. We are working to advance more flexible forms of education and build the learning capacities of local families.

This new movement is making it easier for families and young people to access a broad range of local learning resources and helping Ones have more progressive experiences in self-development. abunDANCE in Family Directed Learning brings your family's important cultural values into synergy with standard system schooling through creative cross-curricular projects that engage the whole community. By the word "synergy" we mean a unity without lost of original integrity.

Many parents have a strong interest in the education of their children, but even with the best will in the world it can still be very challenging to single-handedly take up the responsibility this highlights. Abundance Centres (UK) is established to help you.

Family Directed Learning (FDL) is born from this sense of responsibility, felt by parents and families, to ensure the best possible learning experiences for the community's children.

As an educational movement we stand with the universal values of self-respect and "the common good". It involves building up One's capacity to take and maintain leadership roles in the family's learning experiences. Furthermore, FDL invites us to envision and enact "life long learning", "know thy self" and "each one teach one"; thus One may ensure an adaptable reading
